

“ An idea is nothing more nor less than a new combination of old elements. ”

— JAMES WEBB YOUNG

JAMES WEBB YOUNG
Father of Modern Advertising

Ideas don't come from nowhere.
They come from inspiration — from a muse that sparks new combinations.

WHAT THIS MEANS

We don't create from nothing.
We take what we already know, have seen,
experienced and rearrange it in a new way.

Creativity is connection.
The more elements you know,
the more combinations you can make.

New combinations create value.
When familiar pieces come together differently, they become ideas that matter.

WHERE INSPIRATION (MUSE) COMES FROM

Books & Reading

Expose your mind
to new ideas.

Observation

Pay attention to details others miss.

People & Conversations

Different perspectives spark new thoughts.

Travel & New Experiences

New environments expand your thinking.

Nature

Patterns in nature
often inspire ideas.

Curiosity

Ask questions.
Stay open. Explore.

“ The mind, once stretched by a new idea,
never returns to its original dimensions. ”

— OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES

HOW TO INVITE YOUR MUSE

BE CURIOUS

Curiosity is the starting point of every idea.

COLLECT RELENTLESSLY

Capture ideas, quotes, images and observations.

MAKE CONNECTIONS

Look for patterns, links and similarities.

COMBINE FEARLESSLY

Don't wait for perfect. Combine and experiment.

REFINE RELENTLESSLY

Shape your idea until it becomes meaningful.

SHARE BOLDLY

Ideas have impact only when they are shared.

“ You can't have a new idea
if all you have are old ideas. ”

THE TAKEAWAY

Feed your mind. Seek inspiration. Connect the dots.
Your next idea is already waiting — in the elements you know.
